

Scientific Knowledge Services and Enago Partner to Help Researchers Achieve Publishing Excellence

ESL (English as Second Language) researchers receive easy access to Enago's portfolio of manuscript preparation and author support services

May 2, 2018, New York: Scientific Knowledge Services (SKS), the European service provider for research and research support organizations has partnered with Enago, global leader in manuscript preparation and author services. This collaboration will provide users associated with SKS' services, end-to-end support throughout their publishing life cycle, helping them confidently submit research to international peer-reviewed journals.

SKS works with publishers, universities and institutions to make their scientific content that much more accessible and discoverable for researchers in Europe and around the world. They create customized service solutions that enable this and the wider facilitation of scientists throughout their publishing journey.

Enago is the preferred partner for researchers and institutions globally for manuscript editing and publication support services. Since 2005, it has enabled over 2 million authors, to successfully publish quality research in high-impact journals internationally.

Commenting on this partnership, Dr. Tiberius Ignat, Founder, SKS said, "We are pleased to collaborate with Enago to mutually create a supportive environment for scientific and academic researchers as they progress through their publishing journey. We are confident that Enago's expertise will go a long way towards helping users of across Europe present and communicate international quality publish-ready research."

"We are delighted to partner with SKS, widely recognized for their innovation, digital technology and proven expertise in helping connect providers and consumers of scientific content," said Rajiv Shirke, VP Global Operations, Enago. "At Enago, deeply entrenched as we are in the global research community, we understand the challenges researchers, especially ESL authors, face. Through this partnership we aim to continue providing them the support they need to achieve publishing excellence across international peer-reviewed journals."

For further information, please visit: <https://www.enago.com/sks/>

About Enago: <https://www.enago.com/>

Enago is a trusted name in author services for the global research community. Founded in 2005, we have worked with over 100,000 researchers in more than 125 countries improving the communication of their research and helping them to achieve success in publication. Enago Academy, the author education arm of Enago, addresses emerging needs of early-stage researchers by providing publication-intensive training resources via different digital platforms and onsite workshops. Enago operates globally with regional teams supporting researchers and institutions locally. We have offices in Tokyo, Seoul, Beijing, Shanghai, Istanbul, and New York.

About Scientific Knowledge Services: www.Knowledge.Services

Scientific Knowledge Services (SKS) is a Swiss registered company that has extensive experience working closely with global stakeholders to simplify access to scientific knowledge. It consistently strives to find that point where the interests of content providers (including libraries, universities and research organizations) and content consumers (including researchers and the wider public) converge, and proposes winning solutions for all. SKS leverages digital and internet technologies to help these two groups connect and collaborate, in the process supporting the advancement of Open Science elements.

Contact details

For Enago:

Rajiv Shirke, rajivs@enago.com / VP Global Operations

For Scientific Knowledge Services

Marika Markova, marika@scientificknowledgeservices.com / Executive Director